Available Logo File Formats

Logos are available in the following industry standard electronic formats:

- EPS CMYK (VECTOR)
- EPS Pantone/PMS (VECTOR)
- EPS RGB (VECTOR)
- PNG (bitmap, transparent background, 300 dpi)

Below is a quick reference chart if you are unsure of what file format you need. Ask your vendor for their preference.

Note about color reproduction: The PNG files use RGB colors. When using these files for printed pieces, alert your vendor and share the corresponding PMS or CMYK colors above. For printed pieces, it is strongly recommended to provide your vendor EPS (Vector) files. Even though you may not be able to view these files, your vendor will know how to use them appropriately. EPS files are industry standard for electronic artwork reproduction and they will ensure high quality regardless of size and provide your vendor with correct colors.

FILE FORMAT	RESOLUTION	COLOR SPECS	USAGE	COMPATIBLE APPLICATIONS
PNG	300 dpi	RGB* May not be suitable for certain projects. Please check with your vendor.	High-Quality For Web, Brochures, Flyers, Ads, Stationery, General Printed Materials	MS Word, MS PowerPoint, MS Excel, MS Publisher, Adobe Photoshop, applications that are mainly for web or on-screen viewing
EPS	VECTOR	CMYK PANTONE/PMS RGB*	Highest Quality For Brochures, Flyers, Ads, Posters, Billboards, Stationery, Signage, General Printed Materials, Premium Items	Adobe Illustrator, Quark XPress, Adobe InDesign, PageMaker, Freehand, Adobe Photoshop, general professional graphic design applications

Special Use Logos

System logos have alternate logo files that are simplified for use on applications where the logo has to be 1/4" high or smaller, or when the reproduction method is limited (i.e. embroidery). Artwork for these logos is only available in VECTOR EPS or PDF formats. Request artwork from the Marketing Department and work with your vendor to achieve desired results within the space or reproduction limitations.

General Logos Usage

The examples below apply to all logos from Princeton Health, its units, departments and programs.

DO NOT switch or change the logo colors.

DO NOT change the proportions or position of the logo elements. If you feel an exception is needed, please contact Marketing.

NO LOGO shall ever have three lines of copy.

Department or Program Name

DO NOT use the shield locked up or integrated with any department or program names.

Department or Program Name

DO NOT place any shield motif so close to a department or program name that it would be considered a lock up.

The Cancer Center is unique from other hospital service lines in that it takes the name Penn Medicine Princeton Cancer Center. Note that other service lines typically take the name Princeton Medical Center (PMC) followed by the service line’s name.

Logo:

 DO use the PMC logo on Cancer Center materials

 DO NOT use another logo—other than the Princeton Medical Center logo—on Cancer Center materials.

 DO NOT attach the Cancer Center name to a logo*

* The ONLY time that the Penn shield is combined with the name Penn Medicine Princeton Cancer Center is for signage at the Cancer Center. This logo combination cannot be used at any other time.

Nutrition Tips for Breast Cancer Patients

- Where space is limited such as a billboard, digital ad, bus, or promotional item, Princeton Cancer Center is an acceptable alternative as long as it appears with the PMC logo.

Cancer Center Usage

On Body Copy:

First reference: Penn Medicine Princeton Cancer Center

Second references, or when space is an issue: Princeton Cancer Center

Third and subsequent references: Cancer Center

Donor recognition: The name Matthews Cancer Care Suite should be used when referring to the name of the actual physical location of the cancer care suite, which is located off the Atrium in Princeton Medical Center. It is generally good donor relations — but not a requirement — to weave in references to the suite and the donor's name in marketing materials such as an article on cancer services.

Cardiac Care Donor Name Usage

On Body Copy:

Donor recognition: George & Estelle Sands Center for Cardiac & Pulmonary Care is the full name of the actual physical location of the cardiac care suite, which is located off the Atrium in Princeton Medical Center. It is generally good donor relations — but not a requirement in all situations — to weave in references to the suite and the donor's name in marketing materials such as an article on cardiac services space permitting. For the purposes of marketing communications materials, it is acceptable and preferred to shorten the name and use Sands Center for Cardiac & Pulmonary Care.

General Design Approach

The examples below apply to all logos from Princeton Health and its units, departments or programs.

Logo is flushed left and positioned on the upper left corner. The margins should not be smaller than half the shield's width and not larger than twice the shield's width.

Overall design should have a simple, horizontal quality, using block shapes to create areas of interest (i.e. title, imagery). Care should be taken to avoid creating layouts that are 'striped'.

Examples (not limited to) of grids that can be used for materials that do not have existing templates:

Typography

The examples below apply to all logos from Princeton Health and its units, departments or programs.

Myriad Pro should be used as much as possible.

On computers where Myriad Pro is not available, Helvetica or Arial can be used as substitutes.

In pieces created by professional vendors, Myriad Pro must be used as the main font. Helvetica Neue can be used as accent on headlines or call outs in articles per the designer's discretion.

Be conservative: avoid fonts that are difficult to read or have a very strong character.

Photography Guidelines (updated July, 2021)

Please consider the reasons we are taking the picture and the information and/or emotions we want to convey visually. Once this information is clear, please consider what image will most effectively convey the message(s). Even if the subject of a shoot seems simple and straightforward, please use thought, analysis and judgment when approaching it.

1. Diversity – With multiple photos, be sure to include diversity unless the target audience is a specific ethnic group. Include photography that highlights diversity and inclusion.
Be aware of the context in which the image is being used. Consider: Is the photo appropriate for the topic of the article or brochure that it will be associated with (e.g., it may not be appropriate to include a photo of a person in a wheelchair when promoting a clinical service line). When using lifestyle photos, include LGBTQ+ individuals and couples with children, as well as individuals who are differently abled (such as those with Down Syndrome, individuals in a wheelchair, etc.).
2. Age appropriate – Ensure the age of the person or people in photos is the same age as the targeted audience or the group being featured in the article, ad, etc.
3. Season – The season represented in the photo should match the month in which the program is scheduled – i.e. no summer images for winter programs.
4. Gender – Does the program topic target only men or only women? Be sure that is reflected in the photo.
5. Clothing – Please choose somewhat conservative clothing – i.e. no tank tops or low cut tops, no photos of people in their underwear, including men in undershirts.
6. Exercise topics – Try to avoid tank tops or sports bras for women.
7. Pregnancy topics – It is preferable to use pregnant women with their bellies covered.
8. Safety – Be sure activities in photos appear safe and apply with applicable safety standards. For instance, children riding bikes should be wearing helmets. Be alert. Check with Debbie Millar and/or other safety expert.
9. Facial Expression – Ensure expressions are appropriate for the topic – i.e. neutral expression for a serious topic; cheerful expression for a lighthearted topic.
10. Activity appropriate – Cooking, sports, etc...When possible, look for images that include the activity.
11. Cancer/Eating Disorder Topics – Be sensitive when choosing images to represent patients with cancer or eating disorders.
12. Baby Friendly – Do not include images with baby bottles and make sure that women in breastfeeding photos are appropriately covered.
13. No photos with alcohol in Princeton House articles, ads, etc.
14. Surgical Cap – When selecting stock photos or taking photos of surgeons, technicians, nurses, staff, who are wearing a surgical cap, be sure that the entire ear and any earrings worn are tucked under the cap.
15. Masks – The Joint Commission urges removal of surgical masks when procedures are done, rather than wearing them around the neck/chin. Please do not take or include images of physicians, technicians, nurses, staff, etc., with masks around their necks/chins.
16. Nothing offensive, obscene and of course not pornographic, illegal, etc.
17. Gloves – when showing blood draw and provision of care, please be sure care provider is wearing gloves if appropriate. Please ask the care provider being photographed if it is standard procedure to wear gloves in the situation being photographed. If you are choosing a stock photo involving care or a blood draw, please ask a clinician if the person in the photograph should be wearing gloves.
18. No images of male or female gender related body parts in either real life or replicas of those parts.
19. Avoid taking or using photos with a lot of clutter in them. This is distracting and it also implies disorganization and we don't want patients to think we run a disorganized, messy hospital.
20. Do not take photos of anything that could be considered unsanitary. Examples a dog putting paws up on an empty bed or an employee holding a dog and having his face licked by the dog.
21. Avoid taking photos of someone who looks deathly ill. We are a hospital, so we don't expect that everyone will look like the picture of health and fitness, but if people look very ill, we should not take their photo. It may be seen as disrespectful or insensitive.

Photography Guidelines (updated July, 2021)

- 22. When utilizing photos combined with other photos or text, please be sure the placement of the other images, text and/or text box does not block the underlying image or other images to the point where things start to look strange, are hard to see or just look odd.
- 23. Do keep accuracy in mind at all times. This is broad and there are many examples. When selecting stock images, be sensitive to whether or not elements in the image, particularly technology, are consistent with technology available at Princeton Medical Center. Therapy poses should be safe and accurate.
- 24. Text in captions, body copy and headlines needs to be appropriately sized to be readable.
- 25. When using images of Senior Administrators or other VIPs or dignitaries, please ensure appropriate size and placement on the page. For example, the image should not look like an afterthought be too small or poorly placed or positioned on the page or layout.
- 26. Generally speaking people and backgrounds of images should be neat and presentable. For example, avoid images where people's hair or clothes look messy, backgrounds looks messy, cluttered or unkempt, etc. When taking a picture, please be sure to have a mirror and a new comb available so that the person being photographed has the chance to look at their hair and fix it. Please politely offer them the opportunity to do so. Sometimes people get busy and lose track of how they might look and could use a gentle helpful reminder.
- 27. Please avoid using images of people with physical characteristics that could be distracting. A few examples of distracting characteristics could include messy hair, extremely long or short hair, missing teeth, torn clothing, particularly large jewelry, etc.
- 28. Generally try to avoid photos of babies with their eyes closed but this might not always be possible or necessary – please be sensitive to the baby looking deceased.
- 29. Please do not use photos where an individual appears to be making unwelcome or inappropriate or strange physical contact with another.
- 30. Be sensitive to and ensure the accuracy of the depiction of the clinical environment or situation. For example, if the copy mentions a foot examination, it would not be appropriate to show an image of a foot where it looks like the rest of the person is disrobed as you typically do not need to remove all of your clothing for a foot exam. Think very carefully and critically of each situation to ensure you make good choices.
- 31. It is important that the person appear to be physically intact and not distorted by the photograph in a manner that makes them appear to be missing their limbs or other body parts.
- 32. Avoid use of images where the top of an individual's head is chopped off or any photo with odd chopping or positioning of the subjects. Sometimes the subject's full head is present in the image, but the top of their head ends up getting cropped out once the image is placed and cropped in the creative. Sometimes an adjustment can fix this. Please alert the designer to the concern and see what they can do. If it is not possible to use a selected image within the intended medium (such as a billboard or digital ad, etc.) without cropping the person's head, please work with the graphic designer to place and crop the image to minimize the effects of the cropping. If even with these efforts, the subject's head is looking too severely cropped or chopped off at the top, it may be necessary to identify another image that works better in the space.
- 33. Please avoid photos of infants and toddlers wearing jewelry, as it is a choking hazard.

Please adhere to these guidelines at all times. If images do not meet these guidelines, do not submit those photos to Amy Franco, Debbie Millar, Carol Norris or others. If you have a question or feel an exception may be needed, please discuss with Amy Franco, Debbie Millar and/or Carol Norris as appropriate.

Allergies are Nothing to Sneeze at This Winter

When spring rolls around, the sneezing, wheezing and runny nose and eyes that signal the start of "allergy season" are something many people come to expect. What may be less obvious is the onset of winter allergies, which can involve the same symptoms but different triggers.

"People usually think of pollen, grass, weeds, and outdoor mold — the outdoor spring, summer, and fall allergens — as the only culprits when it comes to allergies," says Kathryn Edwards, MD, board certified in allergy and immunology. "The reality is that indoor allergens are also a concern, but since we are not closed in our homes as much in the nicer weather, we may not exhibit noticeable symptoms until winter arrives, so we close the windows and turn on the heat."

A Medical Evaluation is Important

If symptoms — including sneezing, stuffy or runny nose, itchy eyes and/or throat or ears, or a dry cough — last more than a week or two, and you are usually plagued by winter allergies, seeing a doctor is the important first step when it comes to diagnosis and treatment, according to Dr. Edwards. "You want to begin by determining whether what you are experiencing is allergies, a cold, or something more serious, such as the flu or COVID-19. Since the symptoms of all of these can be similar, a medical diagnosis is needed."

Watch for these symptoms:
Sneezing
Stuffy or runny nose
Itchy eyes and/or throat or ears
Dry cough

IMPORTANT NOTE:
With the prevalence of COVID-19 at the present time, when experiencing any of these symptoms or others, it is important to limit contact with others and seek a diagnosis and treatment promptly.

The most common winter allergens include dust mites, pet dander and mold. In some cases, these allergens can be reduced enough to control symptoms by frequently washing bedding and clothing, vacuuming floors and upholstered furniture, dusting, using an air purifier, reducing moisture with a dehumidifier in the basement and by repairing any water leaks, and using an exhaust fan in the bathroom.

When these changes are not enough, over-the-counter allergy medications or prescription-strength nasal sprays, which help relieve inflammation and symptoms like a runny nose, may be enough to manage the condition. For chronic allergy symptoms, allergy shots may be the answer, since they allow your body to build up immunity to the allergens over time.

Penn Medicine Princeton Health Develops Garden to Honor Healthcare Heroes

PLAINSBORO, N.J. — Penn Medicine Princeton Health has created a Healthcare Heroes Garden to recognize the challenges of 2020 and show gratitude to the medical staff members and employees who helped our community through it all.

The garden will be in full bloom this spring on the Princeton Medical Center (PMC) campus, just outside the Schreyer Education Center. President and CEO Barry S. Rabner said the Heroes Garden is dedicated to everyone who was part of Princeton Health through the COVID-19 pandemic.

"The last ten months challenged us in ways that none of us ever imagined," Mr. Rabner said. "The good news is that we have proven ourselves to be stronger than COVID and that with dedication, courage, hard work, flexibility, creativity and optimism, we have taken great care of our patients and each other."

The garden spot is a prime location between the Education Center, the Healing Garden, and the Edward & Marie Matthews Center for Cancer Care. Last summer, as the first wave of COVID-19 was winding down, Mr. Rabner suggested developing the space to recognize the staff and medical staff.

Funding to develop the garden came from a bequest by the estate of the late David I. Scott, MD, and his wife, Gail Shapiro-Scott.

Dr. Scott was a talented anesthesiologist who helped start the pediatric anesthesiology practice at Princeton Health, Mr. Rabner said, and Mrs. Shapiro-Scott was a retired teacher who volunteered more than 1,400 hours to serve the hospital and our patients. The bequest was made after Mrs. Shapiro-Scott's death in March 2020. The Scotts' gift will also benefit a new Patient Support Fund at the Matthews Center for Cancer Care.

Mr. Rabner said the Heroes Garden is intended to offer a place for reflection and contemplation. The garden features birch trees and other plants, benches, tables, and chairs. One primary feature is a three-panel, metal wall directly outside the Education Center doors.

The right-hand panel acknowledges the donors.

The center panel is inscribed with the message:

In recognition of our extraordinary physicians and employees for their courage, professionalism, unwavering commitment and compassion during the 2020-21 COVID-19 pandemic. Our community will forever be grateful for your heroic efforts.

Promotional Items & Special Uses

Promotional Items &amp; Special Uses	62
Items with No Graphic Elements	63
Premium Items	64
Premium Items and Special Use Logos	65
Premium Items and Logo Over Dark Colored Backgrounds	66

Items with No Graphic Elements

The examples below apply to all logos from Princeton Health and its units, departments or programs.

For instances where there is room to separate the logo from the unit/center/program or service name, but there is no need or desire for additional graphic elements (photo, illustrations, etc), the following rules apply:

If the logo is being used as the title of the piece, it can be shifted from its normal position (top/left).

Use blocks of color to create interest, but keep it simple.

Premium Items

The examples below apply to all logos from Princeton Health and its Units/Centers/Programs and Services.

When branding a premium item, make sure you have the following elements, in order of priority:

- 1 The logo prominently displayed.
- 2 The unit/center/program or service name set in Myriad Semibold, upper and lower case, away from the logo or on another imprint location.
- 3 The contact information (phone number and website) set in Myriad Semibold, upper and lower case, away from the logo or on another imprint location.

Examples:

NOTICE THAT...
For items that have options of different imprint locations, separate the logo and the unit/center/program or service name by printing them in different imprint locations.

NOTICE THAT...
For items that only have one imprint location, position the Name of the Unit/Center/Program or Service as far away from the logo as possible.

! Choose colored items that match the official Penn Medicine colors with a preference to the PMS 288 blue.

Premium Items and Special Use Logos

The examples below apply to all logos from Princeton Health and its Units/Centers/Programs and Services.

System logos have alternate logo files that are simplified for use on applications where the logo has to be 1/4" high or smaller, or when the reproduction method is limited (i.e. embroidery). Artwork for these logos is only available in VECTOR EPS or PDF formats. Request this artwork from the Marketing Department and work with your vendor to achieve desired results within the space and/or reproduction limitations.

TIPS

When the giveaway is a very small item like a pen, or the printer alerts you that small details might FILL IN, use the simplified logo version, which does not have the graphic elements in the shield.

Premium Items and Logo Over Dark Colored Backgrounds

System logos have alternate logo files for use over dark colored backgrounds.

✓ DO use the “Positive White” logos provided by Marketing for printing over a dark colored background when multiple colors are available.

✓ DO use the “K” logos* provided by Marketing when printing over a dark colored background when only one color is available.

**Please note that for premium items, most often graphics that are printed in white ink need to be provided to the vendor as black art. The vendor will use the black art to print the desired color, in this case white ink. Make sure to clearly communicate with your vendor to ensure they produce what you envision.*

✗ DO NOT modify the logo so that the top rectangle bar in the shield becomes white.

There is no negative version of the Penn Medicine shield.

Closeup detail of CORRECT LOGO USAGE over a dark background.

Closeup detail of INCORRECT LOGO USAGE over a dark background.

Premium Items

The examples below apply to all logos from Princeton Health and its Units/Centers/Programs and Services.

✗ DO NOT have the unit/center/program or service name larger or in a position of more prominence than the logo.

✓ DO have the logo prominently displayed.

✗ DO NOT choose items that have a small imprint area.

✓ DO choose items should have a minimum imprint area where the logo is legible.

✗ DO NOT let the logo or any other information 'turn' on items that have a barrel shape.

The goal is to create as much distance as possible from the logo and any other information.

✓ DO size the logo and other information so they are visible within each side.

Samples of Approved Premium Items

The following are examples of approved promotional items that were created by Community Wellness. When creating items or responding to others within the hospital who are asking for guidance, please refer to these examples in addition to those on the previous pages.

Use your best judgment for items that are outside the norm and feel free to ask Amy or Carol for guidance when needed.

Penn Medicine

The Penn Medicine logo is the primary and most visible brand component for our organization. The logo is composed of the Penn Shield and our name, expressed as the Penn Medicine logotype.

This logo is used to identify everything we communicate through our website, print communications, presentations, social media sites, and signs. It is important to have a clear and consistent visual identity. This helps build brand recognition and awareness of our organization, hospitals, service lines, and satellite locations.

The two-color mark shown here is the preferred color version and should be used wherever possible.

Two-color logo reversed out of Penn Medicine Red

Our two-color logo is comprised of Penn Medicine Blue and Penn Medicine Red. These specific colors are a strong representative of our brand and it is important to ensure these colors are reproduced consistently and accurately. We have Pantone® artwork for match-color printing, CMYK artwork four-color process printing, and RGB artwork for digital reproductions.

Colors can look different in different applications. When trying to match our colors in other media, such as a thread for stitching or silk-screen, use the Pantone® coated color swatch.

When a light-colored or white background is unavailable, reversed versions of our logo can be used. Always ensure there is sufficient contrast between the logo artwork and background. Reversed logo artwork is available in the Penn Medicine Logo artwork library.

We have created special-use logos to address very specific needs. These logos should not be used unless these needs occur.

One-color logos are used for situations where we can't use our two-color logos. These situations are typically where it isn't possible to print color such as an ad in a black/white newspaper ad.

Our alternative special-use one-color logo is used where our logo needs to be printed in white on a dark material. Examples include a dark blue sweatshirt or a dark gray water bottle. This artwork as seen in positive (on the left) should never appear that way. This is shown only to depict what the logo artwork looks like before it is printed in white.

Our primary shield has detail in the red band that is an important part of its history. There are times where, in very small applications, the detail is completely lost. The simplified logo should be used in those situations. The elements within the red band have been removed to allow for use in very small applications. We also have reverse artwork of the simplified logo for printing it white onto dark materials.

We have a logo for use on white and light color backgrounds, and a mark for use on dark backgrounds. They look very similar but each mark has been optically corrected to work best in their respective application.

Each mark is equally simple to use, just remember to use the reverse mark on backgrounds that are darker than approximately 35% black, as shown to the left.

The middle background values, from 30% to 40%, are the most challenging with regard to the legibility. These background principles apply to the Penn Medicine Entity Logos as well.

Never redraw or try to recreate the Penn Shield or logotype. Any modification of our visual identity diminishes its impact and weakens our legal protection. Only authorized artwork may be used.

Visual Identity: Logo Misuse

1.6

Do not use any legacy marks or logos.

Do not add, modify, or remove any typography or graphic elements of the logo.

The incorrect logo use on this page is representative of the ways in which logos are often misused as they are introduced. The incorrect use of a logo often leads to other misuses.

Never redraw or try to recreate our logo. Any modification of our logo diminishes its impact and weakens our legal protection. Only authorized artwork may be used.

Do not use the large shield entity logo with Penn Medicine.

Do not distort or add special effects to the logo.

Do not change the size relationship of any elements within the logo.

Do not use the positive use logo on backgrounds that do not have sufficient contrast.

Do not use the special-use one-color logo for anything other than printing white ink on dark surfaces.

Do not use the reversed out logo on backgrounds that do not have sufficient contrast.

Do not change the color of any elements of the logo.

Do not use our logo on backgrounds or photographs that are complex and distracting.

Visual Identity:
Member and Affiliate Logos

1.7

Our members and affiliates provide an opportunity to extend our brand to selected medical offices.

The logos have been developed to focus on the member or affiliate nature of the relationship. We have done this by bolding the member or affiliate designation. The Penn Medicine member and affiliate logos are used in conjunction with the medical offices' logos.

This approach allows us to build the Penn Medicine brand by strongly connecting with the member and affiliate offices, which benefit from their connection to Penn Medicine. We have developed detailed examples of the correct way to use the Penn Medicine member and affiliate logos with their office logos. Contact marketing for further information.

These logos feature a larger Penn Shield compared to the Penn Medicine logo. This modification balances the addition of the entity name and gives more visual presence to our logo.

The principles described within these standards for logo color, minimum clear space, background color contrast, and logo alignment apply to these member and affiliate logos.

Strategic Alliance Logos

1.8

Our strategic alliances extend our brand to selected health system programs.

The logos have been developed to focus on the alliance nature of the relationship. This is done by creating a 50/50 relationship between Penn Medicine and our alliance partner logos. The Penn Medicine and alliance logos are used in conjunction with the service line or program name displayed underneath.

This approach allows us to build the Penn Medicine brand by strongly connecting with our alliance partner, benefiting both organizations through our connection to one another.

Co-Brand with Affiliate Logos

2.1

Horizontal affiliate co-brand logo

Vertical affiliate co-brand logo

Horizontal affiliate co-brand logo

Vertical affiliate co-brand logo

Our affiliates are an important part of Penn Medicine. They provide us with an opportunity to reach more customers across a broader geography. We provide them with a close affiliation with Penn Medicine.

We have set certain parameters in how we visually identify ourselves in these co-branding opportunities.

Our affiliates are always presented first, to the left or above our Penn Medicine affiliate logo.

Our affiliates also should appear larger. We recommend creating a 70-30% relationship, with our affiliates appearing larger than Penn Medicine. This relationship is affected by the numerous variables of height, width, proportion, color, contrast, mass, and size of name. In essence, it has to be visually determined.

We are using two placeholder affiliates that have very different appearances. At the top, we show a business with a separate symbol and a long name. Below we use a name within a square. We have placed their logos with a placeholder for a Penn Medicine affiliate logo.

Brand Identity Standards: Supplement for Partners

Vertical Co-Brand

Justified alignment, left and right side

Centered alignment

Larger logo may extend beyond the lines

Different proportion logos such as the Jones logo

Our vertical logos are used when the horizontal width is limited. A square or vertical format will typically be more effectively branded when a vertical logo is used.

All of our vertical logos are center aligned as shown by the dotted line

Determining the 70-30% relationship can not be resolved with a formula. To the left, we show two size variations of the Smithson logo. The top version is justified (left and right aligned) with the Penn Medicine line. It appears more prominent than the Penn Medicine logo because it is on top and has both a bolder symbol and typeface.

Not all logos need to be justified with the Penn Medicine logo. The middle row shows the Smithson logo slightly larger and extending beyond the Penn Medicine logo. While it appears too large here, this option may be useful with other logos.

It is important to note, the vertical space between the affiliate logos and the horizontal line (A) should always be greater than the vertical space between the horizontal line and the Penn Medicine logo (B).

The Jones logo has a different proportion and character but the same principles apply. The Jones logo appears to have a 70-30% ratio to the Penn Medicine logo. If the logo had the same width as the Smithson logo it would appear far too large.

Brand Identity Standards: Supplement for Partners

Horizontal Co-Brand

2.3

Horizontal affiliate co-brand logo

Horizontal affiliate co-brand logo with guidelines

Horizontal affiliate co-brand logo

Horizontal affiliate co-brand logo with guidelines

Our horizontal logos are used when there is a wide format such as website masthead, top of a brochure, or a horizontal sign. For the horizontal affiliate co-brand logos, all alignments are horizontally centered on the vertical lines as shown with the guidelines to the left.

The Smithson logo fits comfortably within the guidelines and is visually centered in that space. Note the space between the affiliate logos and the vertical line (A) should never be smaller than the space between the line and the Penn shield (B).

The Jones logo has a different proportion and character but the same principles apply. The Jones logo appears to have a 70-30% ration to the Penn Medicine logo. If the logo had the same height as the Smithson logo it would appear too small. Because of the height and strength of the Jones logo we have added additional space.

Brand Identity Standards: Supplement for Partners

Misuse of Affiliate Logos

2.4

Do not make the Penn Medicine affiliate logo more prominent by significantly changing the sizes

Do not make the Penn Medicine affiliate logo more prominent by placing it on top or before

Do not use the Penn Medicine logo without the full affiliate line

Do not use the Penn Medicine affiliate logo alone or in any way outside of the vertical or horizontal art

Do not make the affiliate logo too large in relationship to the Penn Medicine affiliate logo

Do not make the affiliate logo too small in relationship to the Penn Medicine affiliate logo

Do not change the alignment

Do not combine the affiliate and Penn Medicine affiliate logos in any other way

Placing two logos in proximity as a co-brand is one of the most challenging brand identity challenges.

The examples shown on this page are representative of what can go wrong with co-branding. The incorrect use of a logo tends to give license to, and encourage, other misuses.

The co-brand affiliate logo artwork we provide to you should be used without any modifications. Never redraw or try to recreate our logo, including our shield or logotype. Any modification of our logo diminishes its impact and weakens our legal protection. Only authorized artwork may be used.

Brand Identity Standards: Supplement for Partners

Misuse of Alliance Logos

3.3

Do not switch the order of the alliance logos. Penn Medicine should always be on the left.

Do not make the Penn Medicine logo more prominent by significantly changing the sizes; both logos should have a “visual” 50/50 proportion

Do not use the logo lockup without the tagline. The strategic alliance represents the master relationship; but other partnerships, such as “Neuroscience Services” or “Cancer Services,” are possible where the relationship contactually exists.

Do not alter the line width proportion. Horizontal line is the width of the largest logo, in the vertically stacked format

Placing two logos in proximity as a co-brand is one of the most challenging brand identity challenges.

The examples shown on this page are representative of what can go wrong with co-branding. The incorrect use of a logo tends to give license to, and encourage, other misuses.

The co-brand alliance logo artwork we provide to you should be used without any modifications. Never redraw or try to recreate our logo, including our shield or logotype. Any modification of our logo diminishes its impact and weakens our legal protection. Only authorized artwork may be used.
